cordially invites you to a discussion with Religious Leaders, on

Uniting people through diversity – coming together during times of need

September is heritage month in South Africa, celebrated on 24 September each year by recognising and celebrating the cultural wealth of the nation. South Africa boasts a richness of cultural diversity from the precolonial era to the present. Heritage is an integral component of all communities and links identity to ancestors and for continuity in future generations. Aspects of heritage intersect with our daily cultural traditions, oral history performance, ritual, popular memory, skills and techniques, indigenous knowledge systems and the holistic approach to nature, society, and social relationships. Heritage plays an important role in promoting cultural diversity, social cohesion, reconciliation, peace, and economic development. The current COVID-19 pandemic has affected some aspects of our cultural practices. These include restrictions on burial practices, our grieving processes, not being able to visit the sick in hospitals, etc. Moreover, the social distancing in informal settlements and rural communities has been a challenge to the young and the old.

To celebrate our diversity, the Academy of Science of South Africa (ASSAf) will host a webinar with the Religious Sector to discuss these issues, how they have been affected, how they have gone around them and also take recommendations for the future. Given the current lockdown status, the programme will be undertaken virtually, with a link to be provided for attendees and participants to join the discussion.
