

science & innovation

Department:
Science and Innovation
REPUBLIC OF SOUTH AFRICA

ANNUAL NATIONAL SCHOLARLY EDITORS' FORUM (NSEF) MEETING, 2021

The future of scholarly publishing in South Africa

Prof Caroline Ncube
UCT

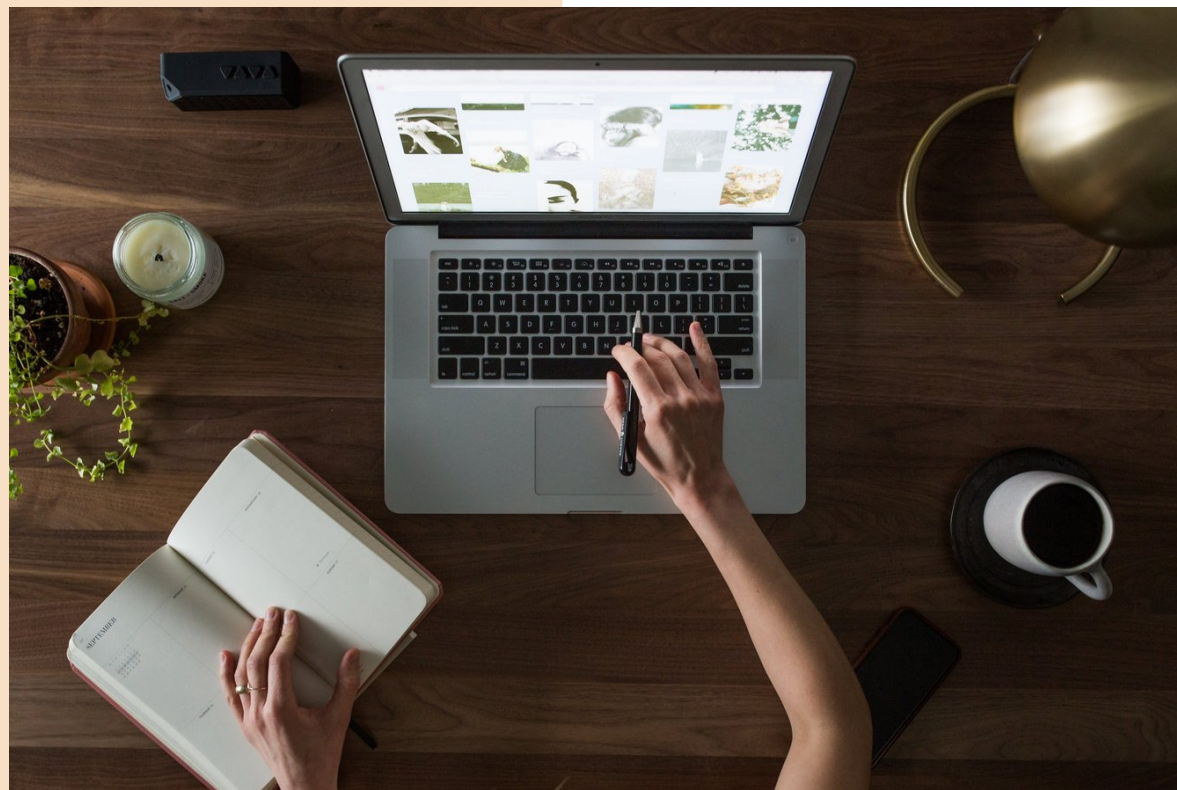

CSPiSA Member
Editor, SA Intellectual Property Law Journal

Can and should research be 'fun'?

intrinsically interwoven

never the twain shall meet

- suitable ?
- perceptions?
- our attitude to work, as researchers, editors and readers?
- curiosity, excitement, eagerness to learn and contribute to solving challenges

Editors, Researchers, Readers

Feasible Useful
Nuanced

Rewarding
Enjoyable

*SAJS ASSOCIATE EDITORS
MENTEES' COMMENTS

“ [Enjoyable and rewarding] Productivity is never an accident. It is always the result of a commitment to excellence, intelligent planning and focused effort.”

- Paul J. Meyer

What do you think about it?

Go to www.menti.com and use the code 7138 2331

Can, and should, research be fun?

Mentimeter

No, never the twain shall meet.

They are intrinsically interwoven.

Depends

Go to www.menti.com and use the code 7138 2331

Which parts of your work as editor, do you find most rewarding or
enjoyable?

Press S to show image

The results -- next page >

Can, and should, research be fun?

Which parts of your work as editor, do you find most rewarding or enjoyable?

Further engagement

www.ipchair.uct.ac.za

@caro_ncube

@IPChairUCT

Caroline.ncube@uct.ac.za

